

João Garcia de Guilhade

Rubrica

I won't deny to you, my friends, how badly love has hit me, because I see how mad I act, and madly I'll admit it:
the green eyes that I saw
have made me what you see.

Everyone knows to whom these eyes belong, and although this who resents the fact she's talked about, I'm dying of love – what can I do?
The green eyes that I saw
have made me what you see.

If a man has lost his mind, then he has to be excused for all the mad things he may say, and so I madly say to you:
the green eyes that I saw
have made me what you see.

cantigas-stag.square-bit.com

© 14/12/2025