I'm grief and girlish softness-
my lover left in anger, but I swear on my honor, I have no forgiveness:
if he hoped to gain by leaving,
he'll learn - I get even.

Mother, he never explained why he left with such malice in his heart - but I promise, upon my father's name:
if he hoped to gain by leaving,
he'll learn - I get even.

Though I've suffered for his sake-and though you beat me, dear mother, you who hate me for my lover, I swear on my maidenhood:
if he hoped to gain by leaving,
he'll learn - I get even.
