I asked a woman for her cunt,
she quoted me a high price,
and so I said: "It isn't right to ask one man for that amount.
Now do me and yourself a favor –
sell me a portion of your wares, as my love won't require much.

"Merchants sell small portions of gold,
worth more than your cunt, you will agree.
They sell small portions of bread and honey;
for meat and salt, the same thing holds.
Thus you too should sell your cunt, since other men are sure to come and buy the portions still unsold.

"And you'll be able, by this art,
to sell it all, for once word spreads that you sell piecemeal, many men like me will gladly buy a part.
And I'll do you a special favor:
if you want to keep your navel,
I'll be happy to take your arse."
